

Sangulani Maxwell Chikumbutso, the Zimbabwean inventor tells his story

Victor Mukandatsama

21 July 2015

We attended the Saith Technologies Open Day where a local inventor, Maxwell Chikumbutso, was exhibiting some of his innovations. We ventured to find out who he is and managed to get some background when he shared his story.

Sangulani (Maxwell) Chikumbutso is a Zimbabwean born serial inventor with the typical I dropped out of school, but I am a genius story, synonymous with some of the successful people we know today.

He is the founder of Saith Technologies. He was born in 1980 and grew up in the high-density suburb of Kuwadzana, Harare, under the care of a single parent as his father walked out on the family.

He completed his primary education at Kuwadzana 5 Primary School and secondary education up to Form 2 at Dzivaresekwa High 2. His education up to this stage was funded through Social Welfare until he dropped out.

He started experimenting with technology while in Kuwadzana. At one point, he was profiled on local TV as a prominent young man in Kuwadzana. Maxwell had aspired to become a mechanic, possibly inspired by his father who was a qualified Journeyman.

A devout Christian, Maxwell says that in September of 1997, while praying at a certain mountain he received the scripture in Isaiah 46 from where the name Saith Technologies came, as in "thus saith the Lord". That is also the time he began receiving strange visions and visible blueprints even though he did not know any electronics at all. He says he learned most of what he knows about electronics from those visions.

In 1999, he built his first successful project which was a Radio broadcast transmitter for which he made the headlines on ZBC news. He started broadcasting, though illegally. The project fell away due to lack of funding.

In 2001, under the mentorship of Rose Mazula, then Broadcasting Association of Zimbabwe Chairperson, he developed what he named the Digital Navigation Facilitator which is used to facilitate landing of aircraft from variables that include the size of the aircraft, its position in altitude, speed and so on.

He took it to the Air Zimbabwe Technical Training Centre where it was assessed and given commendation by aircraft engineers. He says that it became the first addition or modification to Zimbabwean aircraft technology since 1980 even though he himself had never been in an aeroplane.

He took the invention to Air Force of Zimbabwe where the squadron leader and technical team assessed the technology and confirmed that it worked. However, due to lack of financial support the project just fell away.

A few years later, he met up with a Lawyer, Bruce Mujeyi, who introduced Maxwell to the idea of patents which was by then to him an unfamiliar subject. Bruce bought into Maxwell's vision, volunteered to register patent for free and started providing financing for projects.

In 2003, Maxwell began to get ideas on creating a self-powered generator. Through Bruce, Maxwell interfaced with some prominent professors in Zimbabwe who told him that it was impossible to create such a machine.

He, however, pursued his idea financing it with the little money he got as a haulage truck driver. By 2009, the first prototype of the Greener generator began to work generating 1,200 Watts, but still no one was interested in funding the project.

In 2009, Maxwell was invited by the Government of Lesotho to do a presentation of his project. He was offered a $1,2 million dollar deal but turned it down after he met with Zach Wazara, former Econet CEO and founder of Brodacom.

Maxwell says together they formed a partnership and he became influential in the building of failed telecoms company Brodacom. At Brodacom, he invented what he says is the first WiFi Meshing technology in Zimbabwe with self-organising base stations among other projects.

Under the partnership, the second Greener power prototype was developed and generated 1,200 watts. In 2007 Maxwell says they failed to find an attorney who was able to file a patent for the Greener Power because it violates the present day natural laws of physics.

Instead, patent examiners proposed classifying it as a perpetual motion device. Zimbabwe and South Africa likewise failed to patent the invention. Max and Clerks, a leading law firm in the UK who handle Motorola and Samsung patent registrations were supposed to come and inspect a bigger prototype but unfortunately Wazara's business began facing challenges and he could not continue funding. Still, Maxwell went on to build 3 machines that successfully powered his mother's house in Kuwadzana.

An opportunity arose in South Africa where Johannesburg City Power invited tenders for new and renewable energy solutions. Among the bidders, Maxwell was the only individual. In spite of that, he performed exceptionally but unfortunately, he lost the opportunity because the awarding director wanted a portion of shares in the company in exchange for his grant.

He also turned down a buyout from an unnamed European Institute at around the time that he met with Angolan born pastor and businessman Dr Teddy De Almeida in Johannesburg.

Dr Almeida owns one of the biggest energy companies in Angola under the Bongani Group. He bought into Maxwell's vision and contributed over $500,000 seed money desiring no return for his investment. No documents signed, just a stern warning to use the money wisely. Eventually when the Greener Machine was eventually completed and he invited Dr Almeida to take up equity in Saith Technologies.

Ngano dzega dzega dzinozopedzisira dzave kusanganisira vakuru vechechi!

So if this guy why turn down so many opportunities only to be given miracle money by some big pastor who has same business interests?

'knew it! This businessman come pastor come venture capitalist is using this naive nbo to expand his business into Zim, plus more money to his church from again live Zimbos running away from Madzanire and Makandiwa, hatinete kubirwa.

Why is this all on paper, if this con idea works, why not power the whole of Kuwadzana, or even better just a street where he lives to prove that it works.

It doesn't work, just another con from these so-called man of cloth.

I'm so embarrassed by Techzim, another diesel from rocks story! Mukandatsama is a member!

I think you have a serious problem. You want him to power the whole Kuwadzana when he is just starting. This country has authorities his products I guess must be registered with respective government authorities. For your own info the regulation is that certain devices producing over certain wattage should be regulated. The paper have given name references of people who know his journey. Stop insulting Pastors if God used this pastor to help him, where is that wrong. The Pastor is from Angola does not have a church in Zimbabwe. He said when he was helped the Pastor did not want anything but gave him the money because he was touched with his story. Don't criticize without facts. Wakadii kuenda kunzivzwira weva. Inga wani Techzim wrote notifying that there was going to be that event you should have developed interest like what some of us did and try to get info to go and witness it ourselves

Where is the paperwork?

How many workers(not church members) did he use to make the prototypes plus this guy didn't use logic as other people would want to believe and criticize hence no surprise on engaging a Man of God whom he could trust. Physicists had written off his idea as a non event but because his was not an invention from studies, but an invention from the spiritual revelations it means he had all the backing from the creator of nature. God Himself. Likewise nothing He started can flop for whatever reason. His (according to his story) was a spiritual relaying of invention.

Patents is the word you were looking for (>_<).

The wrong word appeared 5-times in this poorly-written puff-piece. The author &

I have to say, this is top-shelf PR: I don't think money can buy this. Which church do I

The story is the money came from a business men who is also a Pastor. The money did not cone from the Church. The man actually said he is a businessmen and also a Pastor. Its like if a person is a politician and a business men and he gives you money, you cant say the money came from his party.

the perpetual motion machine you have just described is an impossibility. You cannot violate the laws of physics and thermo-dynamics because they are laws made by nature that actually govern nature

kundai
22 July 2015 10:39

let me say again impossible. you are essentially saying this device can create energy, and change said energy into different forms without losing energy to friction all within a closed system.

Ed
22 July 2015 11:33

Wizkid, you need to go back and check the prototype again. There is no such thing as a perpetual motion machine. Laws of the conservation of energy and thermodynamics are natural laws like what Kundai is saying and cannot be violated that easy. There is something totally wrong about this report.

23 July 2015 01:07

You seem to be book smart Kundai but do you know that those so called laws of physics and thermodynamics had to be discovered and defined by a person. Is it possible that we have discovered all "laws" of nature and that it's possible that there are other dynamics that are yet to be defined that no one has come to understand yet? Just because we cannot understand something or it's not in the university books doesn't mean that it cannot be done or exists. Scientists are buffed evryday by things the thought they understood and now have no answers to. Did you see the video where sharks were swimming in boiling water?
<http://m.youtube.com/watch?v=nXndThzDHF8>

kundai
23 July 2015 08:41

Max has a burden of proof he must satisfy and until then I shall remain unconvinced.I shall continue to demand empirical evidence from him because so far all we have is an unsubstantiated claim of a perpetual motion machine.

kundai
23 July 2015 08:53

22 July 2015 09:30

the problem with you people is you went to school and the best you can do is to think inside the box of what your Professors and Doctors taught you.

Start thinking outside the box

Have you not heard of designs that have been destroyed because they were a big risk and disruptive to already standing industries.

e.g an engine that could do 300km on 1 Litre of petrol. design destroyed

Hello World

I know the Mr Chikumbutso in person, i was in a class with his young brother at high school. I would spend time at their house in Kuwadzana.

Mr Chikumbutso is a natural genius and very gifted man. Everything on this article is true, he is greater Newton.

Its high time we acknowledge our own!

He is not bound by laws of physics or nature because his inventions are not based around them. His inventions are ground braking and mind blowing! It take knowing him and seeing the technologies to understand than degrees or PHD's in physics theories.

Chikumbutso is the future!

Mildred
22 July 2015 14:10

Great Maxwell, never mind the ignorant naysayers who will never believe in anything even their own abilities. What God is doing through and in you is a testimony may would want to share but never your story...its your story and I am liking it. Physics and whatever subject/ invention is for the learning and not the learned. It can be too early but I see this guy in the same strata with Elon Musk, I tell you this is good for our nation. I pray you find means to mass produce this, can't wait to get my own generator.

dreamsarereal
22 July 2015 16:08

Wow!! It is amazing the kind of things people download in dreams. Actually most of history's big inventors and innovators got their ideas in dreams. For instance, Dmitry Mendeleev, a brilliant 19th century chemist and physicist recreated the Periodic Table during his waking hours after it appeared to him in its entirety in a dream. That particular dream signaled the beginning of modern Chemistry! If Dr. Jonas Salk had chosen to ignore his dreams, the polio vaccine might never have existed. Or Thomas Edison's invention of the light bulb. Theory of Relativity came to Einstein in a dream. So we can not discredit this man just yet. Let's give him enough time we might just be at the verge of a new revolution. All the best Maxwell. Keep up the great work.

macd chip
27 July 2015 00:12

Did Dmitry Mendeleev and all these people went to school first before they all started dreamin?

How do you compare their education background to Max's?

22 July 2015 16:09

Mr Chikumbutso's story is intriguing because at face value it really does smell like a hot stinking pile of you-know-what to the "logical thinker" type of person (ie myself), I understand macd chip's frustration with these wild largely unsubstantiated claims. It's not a PHD syndrome at all – its a desire to have claims substantiated in a world full of miracle this-miracle that because there are a lot of unanswered questions here lets be honest. To the "praise-and-worship" and the "dhiziri kuChinhoyi" types this is more undeniable proof that "tinaye mwari weminana" because for such a mind it is easier to allow oneself to find a reason to believe in the supernatural, than be bamboozled by a highly foggy and unclear formula and circumstances of what Maxwell actually invented or innovated here. Claims must stand by the test of practical demonstration.

Personally ndakuneta nema claims ekuti this/that born-location kid invented a helicopter, you go there and see handmade replica of a helicopter that doesnt fly, doesnt even switch on, zvonzi "he is working on inventing the powertrain" – hello people! That's not an invention its art and craft! – its like those wire cars that those talented craftsmen used to make when we were growing up as kids (those old enough) – you can't then claim to have invented a wire car hello! In Maxwell's case these "inventions" are in my mind "customisations" of Chinese made EV cars, recreational aircraft etc, same concept as G-Tide, Gtel and their "Zim-designed smartphones" what have you. It is mediocrity veiled as genius, lets come up with something better Africans – if we forbid ourselves from criticising mediocrity then where will the real greatness come from? The Chinese, the smartest "copy" artists in the world dont spend their energies patting themselves on the back vachiti hey we invented this/that etc, they reverse-engineer the damn thing and produce it cheaper than the genuine article, and they make their billions that way. And why do we always seem to have a direct relationship between the high economic woes of a country coinciding with high levels of false prophets – these prophets seem to thrive when the economy is doing especially badly with high unemployment, high poverty levels, etc yet the moment things turn around no-one gives a hoot coz everyone has a job, car, house, and starts going to their traditional Catholic/Methodist/Anglican places, why why why

So testing is only testing when its done by you. Writing in ignorance is actually more frustrating. Non of Max products is not tested they have all been tested and have gone through stress test, especially the vehicle and the generator. By the way Max have no obligation to prove to any one of you ungrateful people. These things have been tested. For your own info some key professors have seen Max's machines and confirm that it works, what makes them marvel is the invention of Microsonic energy device. People dont understand it, unfortunately if thats what we are looking for him to expose i dont think he will do that.

Inventionnis not on the frame or the body its in the Microsonic energy device. So whether body of the car looks like another car but the joy is what drives it does not belong to anyone Max himself invented it. Helicopters were invented long ago, he is not saying that he invented a helicopter, but the engine that runs it. Let me clarify this for you. Today i went there with all my doubts and really wanted to showdown the guy. When i got there i was dumb founded. My questions were answered. Max is clear in the Greener Power Machine he said some of the components are bought from different vendors. His invention is what generates the electricity called Microsonic device. This is the invention. The same Technology in the Generator powers the car. But some parts of the body were imported . So i am saying to my fellow doubting citizens like me, this thing is real. His helicopter is a fuel saver and uses 5 different fuels. I believe in the works of Max

Oh, shame to you guys!!!!: Are leaders taught or born? They are born. Are managers taught or born? They are taught. Are scientists born or taught? They are born. So scientists are born with supernatural qualities of being able to express all complex aspects of nature beyond normal human potential. So Max qualifies in this context. Those who were taught science at schools and colleges should know that their role is to give theoretical guidelines to school children. They have no "scientists" status whatsoever. Scientists first invent and theorists just come to write books about these inventions. Max is a scientist and you guys who criticize him are readers and drivers of science who are just good at narrating scientific events and not able to invent all, Kkkkkkkkk!!

This man has done something commendable for the nation. this could be just what Zim needs for us to be uprooted from poverty. if more of us had such innovative ideas our economy would be booming. This also comes at a time when a certain Man of God, Apostle Freshman of Assigned Ministers Ministries has been talking bout this, in fact he has been preaching about this since 2014, "The Spirit of Invention", I just extracted some writings from the facebook page of the church ""Throughout the Scripture, we see paradigm shifts occurring in the lives of the Bible greats after God revealed to them precisely how to go about an invention. For example Noah had a visitation from God, and was vividly shown how to go about constructing the ark in its entirety: "And this is the fashion which thou shalt make it of :..."( Genesis 6:15 KJV) The Ark was a masterpiece, and it all culminated from an idea that God released to Noah.
Moses too, built the tabernacle using a design he received directly from God, and what a truly heavenly design it was; "According to all that I shew thee, after the pattern of the tabernacle, and the pattern of all the instruments thereof, even so shall ye make it."(Exodus 25:9 KJV) "And look that thou make them after their pattern, which was shewed thee in the mount." (Exodus 25:40 KJV)

That is the mind of God to fill his children with His wisdom that is spoken of in the Scripture:

"I wisdom dwell with prudence, and find out knowledge of witty inventions." (Proverbs 8:12

Every new concept emanates from the spirit realm, in other words, it is a product of the spirit. "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning."

(James 1:17 KJV) Your purpose will enable you to see beyond the boundaries of society and ensure you are a producer of a new product. In other words, it will be: A SPIRITUALLY INSPIRED ANSWER TO PHYSICAL NEEDS!"" You can read more for yourself my eyes have been opened by what this Ministry is talking about. I think it could help us all in evaluating this matter from a religious point of view...

Hie This is one the greatest works in the world I am a zimbabwean very happy. Also a I am a scientist under ARIPO. I NEED YOU YOU HELP TO GET SOME SPONSORS TO MITIGATE FLUOROSIS IN ZIMBABWE AND SADC.

Fluorosis is a condition causes by consumption of excess fluoride in water, food , or beverages but in developing countries its caused by Ground water.

Fluorosis appears as brown / GREY teeth in children as the only visible damage of fluoride. Invisible it cause skeletal fluorosis or crippling fluorosis, kidney damage, brain damage, immune suppression, hip bone fractures, anthritis joint pains etc

In Zimbabwe there over 3 million people who live high natural fluoride regions with high levels of fluoride in water [WHO 2004] and 15 districts are affected.

NOW L HAVE THE BREAK THROUGH -I invented a defluoridator which can be used by all villagers to use in Zimbabwe and Africa

May you kindly assist me with connecting me to sponsors so that I can open the plant and assist these communities.

Thank you

I cant help noticing a strong parallel between Maxwell and Nikola Tesla. Tesla registered much over 200 patens, but also endured redicule along the way. Most of his inventions in the early 1900s are now breaking technologies today. In a Nat Geo documentary, Tesla credited his inventions to visions he received from a higher source. Scepticism has been shown in articles above due to inventions not falling within specified laws of physics. Let it be known that most of the said laws are those published by Albert Einstein in his famous Theory of Relativity. But was he 100% correct? Scientists have uncovered evidence that Einstein may indeed have been in error. Check this link and make your own opinion:

<http://uk.businessinsider.com/physics-einstein-got-wrong-2015-11?r=US&IR=T/#1-a-notable-error-shows-up-in-einsteins-most-famous-work-relativity-1>
